

Winter Care For Family Pets Told

It's time now, as winter approaches, to winterize the quarters of household pets reminds the local S.P.C.A. Contrary to general belief, today's domesticated dogs and cats no longer have the native ability to withstand the elements without protection—they need their master's help.

If at all possible, arrange to have dogs or cats sleep indoors—this is the ideal way to protect them says George Crosier, general manager of the Society.

Should this be impossible, well-constructed outdoor housing can be adequate. Bricks, or a similar material, make a good foundation to keep a dog house off the ground. The structure itself should be large enough for comfort, but not so large that the animal's body cannot keep it warm. Clean, dry bedding should be provided, and a heavy canvas or burlap flap hung over the entrance to keep out dampness and chilly winds.

In the daytime, too, pets should have special protection during the colder weather. A warm, dry shelter and clean drinking water should be available at all times, even when the pet's owners are absent for just a brief spell. Of course, special arrangements should be made for the animal's care should it be necessary for overnight visits or longer.

Pets are entitled to good care... he will repay well with loyalty and devotion. Should it at any time become impossible for anyone to care for a pet properly, don't neglect or desert him—this is cruel and illegal, as well as unnecessary, points out Crosier. A call to Republic 2-0113, and the Society will pick up the animal and attempt to find a good new home for it.

Christmas Dessert

There's both artistry in food and decoration when a handsome eggnog Bavarian cream comes to the holiday table. The raised fruit design, created by the dessert-mold container, is painted Christmas red and green with vegetable food coloring.

The beverage blends of milk and eggs that is commercially bottled eggnog provides the ready-made custard base for this traditional holiday dessert. Whipped cream goes in for added richness and smoothness. Then unflavored gelatine gives the dessert its design while at the same time guarding the light, velvety texture so typical of chiffon and Bavarian cream desserts.

Molded Eggnog

- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 quart bottled non-alcoholic eggnog
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, optional
- 4 teaspoons rum flavoring, optional
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine gelatine and sugar in top of double boiler. Stir in 1 cup of the cold eggnog. Place over boiling water and stir until gelatine and sugar are dissolved. Remove from heat; add remaining eggnog. If additional flavoring is desired, add nutmeg and flavoring. Chill until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Fold in whipped cream.

Turn into a 6-cup mold with fruit design; chill until firm. Unmold. Put few drops desired food coloring in small cups; mix with small amount water. Use small paint brush to outline fruit on mold. Return the gelatine dessert on its serving platter to the refrigerator and keep chilled until dessert time. Yield: 10 servings.

CHRISTMAS, IND.

You don't have to go all the way to the North Pole to find Santa Claus—he has a home in Indiana. World Book Encyclopedia points out that the Hoosiers named a small town after the plump gift-giver and put up a statue of him dedicated to "The Children of the World." In a typical year, some four million pieces of mail pour into the post office of the town, to be mailed with the postmark "Santa Claus."

WORD XMAS

The word Xmas as a form of Christmas originated in the early Christian Church, reports World Book Encyclopedia. In Greek, X is the first letter of Christ's name. It was often used as a holy symbol.
